TRIUMPHS FOR DEMOCRATS IN POLL FORESEEN

Experts Disagreed on Extent of Victory In National Vote

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The "most momentous off-year campaign in eighty years" rushed to a climax today with the signs pointing, by and large, to a victory for the Democrats tomorrow.

As New Dealers, anti- and middle-ground men, composed their final pleas to the 30,000,000 persons expected to cast ballots, the question in the minds of virtually all the experts is not whether the Democratic party in general will emerge triumphant, but how emphatic the endorsement will be.

Though they will have their victories in individual states and cases, the Republicans, even in their rosiest reveries, do not hope to approach control in either house of congress. They do dispute the smiling prediction of their foes that Democrats will have a two-thirds sway when the gavel falls next January 3.

It is such questions as these that are already engrossing observers: Engrossing Questions

Will a process of disintegration, already detected by some break the

Ideal Weather is Promised Tomorrow

Chicago, Nov. 6.—(AP)—Ideal autumn weather for the entire middle west for election day tomorrow was predicted today by J. R. Lloyd, government forecaster. The day probably will be clear and fair, he said, with temperatures in the forties or fifties.

two old parties into a new alignment of "liberals" and "conservatives?"

If the Democrats attain huge majorities will they work as a unit or split up, as huge majorities often do?

If there is a pronounced swing to the "left," will Roosevelt try to curb the leftists and will he be successful?

Will the Republicans get enough of a foothold to make it a real fight in 1937?

The elections involve the administration of 33 states and the selection of 456 members of the Seventy-fourth Congress, who will be called upon to complete the Roosevelt recovery program before the 1936 presidential election.

Elect 432 Members

Forty-seven states will elect 432 house members. Thirty-one will send 34 senators to sit with 61 holdovers and Senator Hale (R. Me.) who was reelected September 10. They will sit in a congress that will do much to determine the destinies of the Democratic and Republican parties as well as the policies of the government.

In addition, 274 important state officeholders will be selected from 750 candidates. These do not include legislators. Thirty-four states will decide some 60 constitutional proposals, including prohibition repeals in Florida, Idaho, Kansas, Nebraska, South Dakota, West Virginia and Wyoming.

Among the 135 candidates for the 34 Senate seats are many national political figures. Close contests have been fought in several states. Democrats say they will eliminate at least six old guard Republicans.

138 Seek Governorships

Of the 138 governor candidates Upton Sinclair, the Democratic nominee in California, has been the most spectacular by reason of his sensational "end poverty" program. The administration turned a cold shoulder to his candidacy which most observers believe weakened the former Socialist's chances. His defeat is claimed by his Republican opponent, Governor Frank F. Merriam.

The vigorous contest between Governor Herbert H. Lehman in New York and Robert Moses, Republican, gained nation-wide prominence when Roosevelt appealed for the reelection of his friend.

Roosevelt is back in his Hyde Park home, where he'll vote tomorrow. With the exception of support of Lehman and Senator Copeland, who is opposed by E. Harold Cluett, Troy collar maker and wealthy Republican, the chief executive has maintained publicly a "hands-off" policy. He kept a close watch on developments.

First Lady Stumped

Mrs. Roosevelt, stumped by Mrs. Caroline O'Day, Democratic candidate at large for congress. Two other women, Miss Natalie F. Couch, Republican and Miss Dorothy Brooks, Law Preservation, are candidates. Miss Brooks challenged Mrs. Roosevelt to a debate but it did not take place.

In a drive to win an overwhelming endorsement of the New Deal the administration sent Cabinet members and party leaders over

SIR KINGSFORD-SMITH SET NEW FLYING RECORD

Famous Australian Arrived in California a Bit "Early"

Los Angeles, Nov. 5.—(AP)—A trans-Pacific flight of more than 7,000 miles went into the flying records of the Australian aviator, Sir Charles Kingsford-Smith, today upon completion of an epoch-making flight from Brisbane, Australia, to California.

Back tracking the route he flew in 1928, the British knight of the air landed at the Oakland, Calif., municipal airport early yesterday, completing a 2,408 mile flight from Honolulu in 14 hours and 59 minutes.

The aviator set his blue and white monoplane, Lady Southern Cross, down on the field at 9:44 A. M. CST and apologized to a small group of spectators for his "early arrival."

Sir Charles, the first to make an airplane flight from the Hawaiian islands to the United States, credited his navigator, Capt. P. G. Taylor with making it possible for them to arrive nearly two hours ahead of schedule.

After resting a few hours, the two flew here, another 340 miles.

Plane Un-airworthy

Sir Charles disclosed that the plane isn't considered air-worthy in Australia. This was brought out when Col. Robert Lorraine, British World War ace and the first man to fly from England to Ireland, wondered if Kingsford-Smith's wife wasn't jealous of Lady Southern Cross.

"She has no cause to be," said Sir Charles. "I am going to sell her in southern California."

"It is curious, but the Australian air regulations have proven her un-airworthy and I therefore was unable to sell her there."

"The situation is rather ironical," commented Col. Lorraine, "considering her performance in the flight you have just completed."

The dauntless fliers brushed aside questions about the dangers of the journey.

"We had no trouble except for 15 minutes about 11 o'clock Saturday night when we bumped into a rain-cloud."

"Kingfish" Huey Must Stand Trial for Alleged Libelous Remarks Made About Ex-Army Officer in Senate

Washington, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Senator Huey P. Long must stand trial in a $500,000 libel suit resulting from a speech he made in the Senate.

The Supreme Court today disagreed with the Senator's contention that because he was a member of congress he had constitutional immunity from such legal action. The case was brought by Samuel T. Ansell, former Judge Advocate General of the Army.

In his speech, the senator bitterly assailed Ansell, who had acted

BY ROBBIN

Again Coach C. B. Lindell's powerful machine slipped and fought through a sea of gridiron mud to another conference victory Saturday afternoon with DeKalb as the luckless foe. She fell with a score of 12-0 in favor of Dixon. This victory makes Dixon undisputed holder of first place honors in the North Central conference.

Bob Underwood proved to be the outstanding star and best mud man on the field Saturday. He scored both of Dixon's touchdowns, the first on a dash around the DeKalb left end from about the 40-yard line in the first quarter. In the third quarter he broke loose on the DeKalb 40 yard line and squirmed and slipped his way through the entire DeKalb team for the second score. Next on the list for individual honors comes "Red" Flanagan, Dixon quarterback. "Red" did not once take the ball, but through his great blocking the Dixon backs were able to make consistent gains and run up a 12 point lead over DeKalb. Next comes Marvin Rebeck, who proved to be "another Dixon man who worked well in mud. He consistently gained ground through every portion of the DeKalb defense, and especially on those hard plunges over center. Allan Boyd, the Dixon right half, swam around end or over tackle behind perfect interference for considerable yardage.

Line Worked Well

Every linesman worked perfectly and not once did DeKalb have a scoring opportunity. When they once tried their famous passes, big "Mossy," at center even broke Terwilliger's well known deadly tosses. Crutcher and Stultz were in on every DeKalb play, and repeatedly threw the Barb backs for numerous losses behind the line. Evans was the only tackle playing in the line. Barnhart going back, and Dixon playing 6-2-2-1 defense.

Whenever an Orange and Black half started through the Dixon tackle holes, there was always a Dixon man to promptly bring him down after a short gain, if he did pick up some yardage. Lloyd Miller and Art Klein, Dixon ends, played one of their best games of the season. They were down underneath every Dixon punt and only once did the DeKalb backs return the ball for any considerable yardage. Miller delighted in throwing the DeKalb famous triple threat man, Bill Terwilliger, for consistent losses every time that he started for right end territory.

Barbs Fought Gamely

DeKalb put up losing fight from the moment the game began until the referee's whistle ended the muddy contest. Condon, Barb right half-back was the best man on the gridiron for Coach Jim Trees. He punned and did most of the ground gaining for DeKalb whenever they were fortunate enough to pick up a few yards. On one of Underwood's long punts Condon received the ball on his own 10 yard line and ran it back to the 30 yard line. There as he was about to be down-

Fans Smouldering Campaign in Missouri to Roaring Fire

Kansas City, Mo., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Charges of "tolerated" crime and police incompetence, made by the federal grand jury investigating the 1933 Union Station slayings, made a roaring fire today of Missouri's heretofore smouldering political campaign.

Two high police officials and a former director of police were indicted for perjury by the same grand jury which reported that it found "criminal mobs and racketeers" and "unbridled gambling" in Kansas City.

Senator Roscoe C. Patterson, Republican fighting to retain his seat at Washington, expressed the belief that the indictments "wrecked the hopes of the Kansas City political machine" led by Big Tom Pennington, Democratic boss. Harry S. Truman, who has Pennington's backing as the Democratic nominee, retorted that Patterson "has been making a practice of issuing false statements about the Kansas City organization."

ELEVEN KILLED IN ACCIDENTS IN ILL. SUNDAY

One of Victims was Former Supervisor of Stephenson Co.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Accidents brought death to eleven persons in Illinois over the week-end while more than a score were injured, the majority of fatalities occurring in auto crashes.

Chicago pickpockets were injured and a truck driver, Gustave Hedstrom, was killed when his truck crashed into another truck bringing a group home from a picnic near Chicago. Three of the injured were said to be in serious condition.

Mrs. Monroe Best, 32, was fatally burned at her home near Chesterfield, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. Charles Best of Gillespie, seriously injured when their clothing was ignited by a kitchen fire. Mrs. Best died in a Carlinville hospital.

Office Seeker Hurt

V. H. MacDonald, Democratic candidate for the state legislature, suffered a broken hip and other injuries, and two other persons were hurt in an auto crash near Tuscola. Lloyd Meyer, manager of a Matteson hotel, and his wife were seriously injured.

Freighter Killed

James H. Hill, 69, was killed at Paris when an auto ran him down as he walked along the highway.

While swimming in Fox lake near Antioch, William Miller, 20, was drowned.

Three pedestrians were killed in the Chicago metropolitan area, and two killed and nine hurt in a half-dozen motor crashes.

At Freeport, William, 65, who served for many years as a member of the county board, was killed Sunday night when struck by an automobile driven by Louis Dietrich of Lena.

Summer Cottages Near Grandly Looted of Rugs, Drapes

Oriental rugs and draperies valued at several hundred dollars were reported to have been taken recently in the looting of the Babson and Silverthorn summer cottages in the vicinity of Grand Detour along Rock River. Sheriff Frank Murray of Oregon was in Dixon this afternoon reporting the losses to Sheriff Fred Richardson.

The expensive rugs and drapes were said to have been removed sometime between Thursday noon and Friday night. The cottages were locked, the owners not being present and there was some speculation that a boat may have been used to reach the estates and a possibility that the stolen articles were removed in the same manner. Discovery was made today of the losses on both the estates where spacious summer homes are maintained. The estates adjoin the property which formerly was owned by the late Edward J. Brundage of Chicago.

Third Dividend is Authorized at Forrester State Bank

In addition to this dividend, $19,956.37 has been paid to preferred creditors and $4,775.00 has been paid on bills payable.

19% of this dividend is being made from funds acquired in the ordinary course of liquidation, and 1% represents stock dividend.

Ft. Worth-to-Chicago Plane Makes Record

His Appearance Was Regarded as Crux of Fraud Trial

Federal Courthouse, Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Samuel Insull finished his testimony as a defense witness against mail fraud charges in a thirty minute appearance this morning in Federal Judge James H. Wilkerson's court.

Prosecutor Leslie E. Salter asked Insull a half dozen questions, Insull's own attorney asked three, and the deposed Chicago utility executive left the stand.

The principal defense witness, Insull has been under questioning for a total of 11 and three quarter hours. Taking the witness stand at 10 o'clock Thursday morning, he testified for six hours under prompting from defense attorney Floyd E. Thompson, and then was turned to the government for five hours and forty minutes of searching cross examination.

Although 16 others are charged in the case, along with Insull, Insull's appearance was regarded by both sides as the decisive engagement of the trial, since Insull admittedly dominated the affairs of his huge public utility system.

Question of Intention

From Insull both sides sought to obtain an answer to the question which is the crux of the mail fraud case—the question of whether Insull's investors were intentionally deceived about the quality of the stock offered them by the Corporation Securities Company, which crashed in April of 1932 with a hundred million dollar loss to investors.

In the hands of his own attorney, Insull told a proud story of his life as a utility operator and defended his commercial failure in which thousands of investors were ruined, as an incident of the world-wide depression which followed the boom days of "29."

Under cross examination, the utility executive maintained stubbornly that his motives as a financier had always been honest, shouting his answers angrily when prosecutors pointed out weaknesses in his companies or insisted that investors had been misled, either by plain misrepresentations or by the omission of important information about the Insull companies.

Sam Howard, trustee in bankruptcy for the Corporation Securities Company, followed Insull to the stand.

Parting Shot

The government's last shot at Insull was a charge, supported by checks Insull identified reluctantly, that the Insull family in 1929 sold some of its own securities to one of the Insull investment trusts in a concealed deal.

Attorney Thompson, defending Insull, objected vigorously when Prosecutor Salter produced checks and contracts, contending that the sale by the Insull family and the purchase of the investment trust were two different transactions, not related.

The Insulls sold to Halsey Stuart & Company according to the documents produced. Then Insull Utility Investments, Inc., in a contract signed by Insull a president, bought the stock at the same price. The deal came to $4,498,534.12.

Insull admitted that the stock was sold to Halsey Stuart, and bought back by Insull Utility Investments, Inc., finally forced to a direct question by Judge Wilkerson.

"Are they the same securities?" the judge asked.

"Your honor, I think they are," said the witness.

Even the elevator boys employed by Insull were used to sell Insull stock, the utility man admitted in the last phase of his cross examination. Each employee had a quota, he said.

"Even the elevator boys?" asked the judge. "Yes," Insull shrugged. "Oh, anybody," he said. "The coal passers."

Five Officers of Ill-Fated Liner Morro Castle Went on Trial Today Before Steamboat Inspection Board

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—William F. Warms, who was acting captain of the liner Morro Castle when it burned off the coast of New Jersey on September 8, pleaded not guilty today to charges of negligence brought against him by the U. S. Steamboat Inspection Service.

Warms and four other officers of the Morro Castle went on trial before inspectors of the New Haven district of the steamboat inspection service of the U. S. Department of Commerce.

The inspectors have no criminal jurisdiction; they will merely determine whether the licenses of the officers should be suspended or revoked.

Five specifications of negligence were charged against Warms in connection with the disaster which cost 134 lives.

On trial with him are Chief Engineer Eben S. Abbott, Second Officer Clarence M. Hackney, First Assistant Engineer Antonio B. Bulja, and Third Officer Harold Han-

SMUGGLED-IN CHINESE ARE FOUND IN RAID

Hideout of Alleged Ring Found in New Jersey Sunday

Keansburg, N. J., Nov. 5.—(AP)—After weeks of hardship, hunger and neglect at the hands of a smugglers' ring, 17 alien Chinese are in the custody of immigration officials today.

Eighteen of their countrymen from Canton province are still being sought. Police believe these paid the "head price" of $1,000 to the smugglers and escaped before a raid on the deserted Keansburg houses where the others were held captive.

Capture of the 17, along with a burly negro guard, was accomplished when federal narcotic agents, with state police, descended on the house yesterday expecting to seize a quantity of drugs.

Drugs Taken Out

There had been drugs, one of the Chinese told police, but the last of the load, about $15,000 worth, was taken out on Saturday.

Huddled in darkness behind the locked door of a basement room, the smugglers' "live cargo" were weak and thin. They had been there two weeks, one who spoke English said, and their captors had fed them sparingly with rice.

All said they were waiting for friends to bring the money needed to obtain their release from the smugglers.

Crouching on the floor of an upstairs room, with two loaded revolvers in his hands a negro who said he was MacDonald Hart, 30, of Trinidad, British West Indies, surrendered without resistance.

Hart told police he was hired to guard the Chinese. They were shipped in the hold of a freighter from Trinidad and landed at Norfolk, Va., he said, and then brought by night in a truck to Keansburg.

Police were unable to verify reports that four of the Chinese, becoming ill en route, were thrown into the ocean by the smugglers before the ship landed. The prisoners agreed, police said that 35 Chinese in all left Trinidad and that 18 had escaped.

LABOR TROUBLES IN MANY PLACES AT AN END TODAY

Conflict Gives Way to Cooperation in Various Centers

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Conflict gave way to cooperation today in the relationships of employers and employees.

The United Textile Workers of America offered to aid the Cotton Textile Institute, manufacturers' organization, in developing new markets as soon as federal mediators iron out the differences remaining after their great strike.

Employees of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company returned to work in 300 Cleveland stores today, preparing to reopen them this week in accordance with the truce which the company and seven striking unions reached.

Vote to End Strike

United Anthracite Miners, whose attempts to close hard coal collieries near Wilkes-Barre, Pa., resulted in three days of clashes with members of the United Mine Workers of America, voted yesterday to end their strike. The striking union said its case for discharged men would be fought in the courts.

Seven hundred employees at the Geuder, Punschke & Frey Company enamelware plant in Milwaukee also started back to work. Their three-months strike ended with an increase in pay and union recognition.

Rioting occurred, however, in the strike of 300 milk wagon drivers at Fargo, N. D. Six men were arrested.

A New York union threatened to call out 2,000 employees in 150 buildings unless a $30 minimum wage were established. Thousands of persons climbed stairs to their skyscraper offices last week when a similar strike halted elevators in the garment center.

Dixonites Interested

The Dixon business and professional men interested as organizers and directors of the new company are:

C. A. Mellott, president of the Mellott Furniture Company, who is a successful business man, having owned and operated furniture stores in Carroll, Iowa, Grinnell, Iowa, and for the past ten years has operated the Mellott Furniture Co. of Dixon.

Turner Gets Prize Official speed time of Col. Roscoe Turned and Clyde Pangborn, Americans who took third place, was 92 hours, 55 minutes and 28 seconds.

Nine of the planes which started from Milledenham Oct. 20 reached their final destination. Three others were still in the race as the time period expired. They are C. G. Davies at Calcutta; G. Shaw at Bushire and H. L. Brook at Aleppo.

Because of Panzer's decision to take the first handicap prize, instead of the second speed prize, the latter was awarded to Col. Turner. Cathcart Jones, who flew back to England after the race, was awarded the third speed prize, according to results announced by Wing Commander Cole.

During the half of the light-weight game, two forlorn figures were seen wandering around the Dixon field, and they proved to be Lindell's star pupils—"Pony Boy" Underwood and Don Barnhart. When asked what was troubling them, they both walked out in the same tone the "Undy" had left his rabbit foot at home and wished that some kind hearted gentleman would take him after it. A Dixon fan immediately put him in his car and rushed after bunny's left hind foot. "Pony Boy" retained the teams charm, and taped it to his ribs during the game.

Dixon—None. Touchdowns—Underwood, 2. PONES WON FOURTH Dixon high Ponies won their fourth straight conference victory of the season when they put the skids under DeKalb to the tune of 6-0, and took the Conference lead.

Led by Captain Louie Schumm, the Dixon line put up a stonewall defense and did not allow DeKalb to make over a 5 yard gain, not once was DeKalb in a scoring position, the closest they came to the purple and white goal was the Dixon 45 yard line. After a steady march executed by the Dixon backs, from the DeKalb 40 yard line, Ankeny scored the lone touchdown on a plunge over guard from approximately the 7 yard line.

DeKalb had an unusually fine defense and every linesman was much larger than the Dixon ponies. They were difficult to gain yardage through, or around, but the Dixon backs went marching by for the necessary 6 points and won their game.

This year's pony eleven is the finest that the school has ever produced. They have not yet been scored upon and have run up a total of 66 points against their opponents. Next and last game on their list comes the Rochelle next week at Rochelle. Rochelle has not won a game so far this year, but who can tell what will happen in a football game? With the Rochelle game as the main obstacle standing in their path to a North Central Conference championship, the Dixon lighter eleven are going out to stretch the Rochelle losing period into five conference games.

Dixon victory over DeKalb gives them first crack at the conference championship. In case of a tie in next week's game they will still rule the conference; if they are defeated and Sterling wins, Sterling will claim the North Central title.

THESE ARE THE GIFTS I ASK

THESE are the gifts I ask
Of Thee, Spirit serene;
Strength for the daily task,
Courage to face the road,
Good cheer to help me bear
The traveler's load,
And, for the hours of rest that come between,
An inward joy of all things heard and seen.

These the sins I vain
Would have Thee take away;
Malice and cold disdain,
Hot anger, sudden hate,
Scorn of the lowly, envy of the great,
And discontent that casts a shadow
gray
On all the brightness of the com-mon day.
—Henry Van Dyke.

Miss Tucker Was Hostess to Class

Again Miss Lowry's class of the M. E. church enjoyed another bountiful picnic supper. The class met Oct. 30 at the home of La-verne Tucker.
The girls divided into two groups and departed on a scavenger hunt. After scavenging around a long time with difficulties, both groups returned and were entertained by their hostess. Many games were played, at which each member of the class and visitors enjoyed themselves immensely. At a late hour refreshments were served, af-ter which all departed thinking their genial hostess for a joyous time.

At the previous meeting officers were elected. They are the follow-ing:
LaVerne Tucker, president.
Helen Kennedy, vice president.
Ethel Ford, secretary and treas-urer.
Helen Marth, social chairman.
Joan Hemmen, assistant chair-man.
Lorraine Hull, press agent.

H. S. Girl Scouts To Receive Beautiful Flag Tuesday

The High School Girl Scouts troop will meet Tuesday at the T. J. Miller Jr. home, 423 North Ga-lena ave. At this meeting the G. A. R. is presenting the troop a beautiful American flag.

Last week the girls entertained their parents with patrol stunts and then everyone played games and sang favorite songs. Refresh-ments were served and the girls bid their guests goodnight in a unique way. Handicraft was dis-played during the evening and it was learned the ordinary dish towel could be elevated to a smart sweater.

By MARY E. DAGUE (NEA Service Staff Writer) TOMORROW'S MENU (Breakfast)

Halves of grapefruit, cereal, cream, crisp broiled bacon, graham muffins, milk, coffee.

Luncheon

Cream of mushroom soup, toast sticks, lettuce sandwiches, chocolate fried cakes, milk, tea.

Dinner

Braised pork chops, scalloped sweet potatoes and apples, ten-minute cabbage, stuffed pepper ring salad, apricot whip, milk, cof-fee.

A hostess needs lots of food ideas these nippy days. For if your town is like mine, it has gone party-mad. There are luncheons, parties, to introduce guests, late fall wed-dings, holiday dances, etc.

When it is luncheon, I like to plan the meal around my salad, because if that is a success, the other foods will follow. I have found tomato aspic salad a grand headliner.

A rich cream of mushroom soup makes a fine satisfying first course. Then comes the salad with corn tray of assorted relishes such as croquettes, hot buttered rolls, a ripe olives and several kinds of stuffed olives, special pickles and preserves, with finally frozen pud-ding and coffee.

Or instead of beginning with the soup you might decide to have a fruit cup. Then chicken croquettes with peas would be better than the corn croquettes. And if you want a different dessert try me-ningue shells filled with maple moussé.

Tomato Aspic

1 quart canned tomatoes
1 tablespoon minced onion
1 teaspoon salt
2 tablespoons sugar
1 teaspoon Worcestershire sauce
2 tablespoons lemon juice
2 1/2 tablespoons granulated gelatine

4 tablespoons cold water
Cook tomatoes with onion, salt and sugar for fifteen minutes. Strain. Soak gelatine in cold wa-ter for five minutes. Reheat to-mato juice, add softened gelatin and stir until dissolved. Cool and add lemon juice and Worcesters-hire sauce. Turn into a ring mold to chill and become firm.

When ready to serve dip mold into a pan of hot water. Have lettuce arranged on chilled platter and invert mold quickly onto plat-ter. Fill with crab salad.

Crab Salad

2 cups flaked crab meat
1 cup diced celery
1 cup real mayonnaise
1 teaspoon lemon juice
1-2 teaspoon salt
Few grains of pepper
Sprinkle crab meat with lemon juice, salt and pepper. Add celery and mayonnaise and mix lightly. Pile in center of tomato aspic ring and serve.

This salad will serve six per-sons.

Cream of Mushroom Soup

1-2 lb. mushrooms
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
6 cups milk
2 teaspoons salt
1-4 teaspoon pepper
Clean mushrooms and chop. Melt 1 tablespoon butter in sauce pan, add half the mushrooms and simmer over a low fire for five minutes. Add remaining mush-rooms, salt and pepper and 1 cup boiling water and stew 30 min-utes, keeping sauce pan closely covered. Rub through a coarse sieve. Melt butter, stir in flour and when bubbling add milk stir-ring constantly. Add prepared mushrooms and cook and stir un-till sauce reaches the boiling point. Serve hot.

We Are All "Potent Officers of the Government," Election

Washington, D. C., Nov. 5.—A re-minder that every voter in the polling booth is "a potent officer of the government" comes, on the eve of nationwide elections, from Miss Emily Louise Plumley of Glenbrook, Conn., chairman of American Citizenship in the Gen-eral Federation of Women's Clubs. The duties of the enfranchised, she declares, are to:

Vote whenever it is his privilege
Understand the questions upon which he votes.
Learn something about the char-acter and fitness of all candidates, regardless of the party to which they belong.
Vote for honest men and wo-men.

Support only measure for the greatest common good.
Spurn all bribes.
Place country above party.
Recognize the result of the elec-tion as the will of the people, and therefore the law, regardless of personal opinion.

Continue to vote for a righteous cause as long as there is hope of victory.

"There was never a period when thoughtful judgment and intelli-gent action were so needed," Miss Plumley says. "It takes a good deal to make the right kind of a citizen; and we sympathize with those whose consciences demand not only judgment, but education, intelligence, honesty, loyalty and love. Do you measure up to these standards? Do I? If so, and if there is always a majority in the United States like us, then our glorious country is safe for all time."

"Little can be said for those who glibly fall into Fourth-of-July ora-tory to emblazon a cause or dazzle the unthinking. Let us not be con-founded or misled. Let reason ac-tuate us to meet the grave respon-sibility of this hour, and as loyal citizens of a great democracy, de-clare by our vote our everlasting and undeviating faith in and love of our country."

RESOLVE

By Helen Welshimer
AND since I loved that man too much
I'll love the next one less.
I'll blow him hot, I'll blow him cold,
I never will confess
My heart does acrobatic stunts
And shivers haunt my spine
When he is near, because I think:
"He's mine, he's mine, he's mine!"

AND I'll be out when I am in,
And in when I am out—
For spinach is a healthy food,
And I like sauerkraut!

THREE LARGELY ATTENDED G.O.P. MEETINGS HELD

Campaign Given Fine Finish in County Towns Saturday

Three largely attended Republi-can meeting were held Saturday evening which brought to a close one of the most interesting political campaigns in Lee county. Dan An-derson of Chicago, former assistant United States District Attorney, and J. J. Ludens, former state's attor-ney of Whiteside county were the visiting speakers who headed the three programs. The candidates at-tended the annual Gilbert oyster supper at Franklin Grove and at 7:15 assembled in the town gym-nasium where both of the visiting speakers and the county candidates were heard. Bela R. Halderman, Republican precinct committeeman from China township, opened the meeting and H. C. Warner, county chairman presided. Music was fur-nished during the evening by the Little German band of Franklin Grove.

At 8:30 the second meeting was held in the opera house at Paw Paw. Sam Miller, precinct commit-tee-man from Wyoming township opened the meeting to order after several selections by the Paw Paw band and County Chairman H. C. Warner presented the speakers and candidates. Dan Anderson of Chi-cago was the principal speaker at the meeting.

At the same hour, the third and final meeting of the campaign was opened in the gymnasium at the Compton high school by precinct chairman John Banks of Brooklyn township. There was a musical program furnished by the Merriman band which was fol-lowed by an interesting address by Mr. Ludens. The several county candi-dates arrived later and talked brief-ly. Wellington Chaon, precinct cap-tain of the Young Republican or-ganization of Brooklyn township and one of the most active workers in the county, spoke briefly at the close of the program, explaining the plans and purposes of the organiza-tion.

To The Friends Of Our Schools:

Once more may I convey to you my gratitude and thanks for the honors of the years. In return may I sub-mit the following for your consideration:

Our schools, and the ac-complishments of our teach-ers speak for themselves.

The exercise of mature judgment, humane under-standing and fair treatment, with-out discrimination, have been accorded to your children, to the end that no child shall ever be "cheat-ed," nor shall any child ever be "deserted" in his hour of need.

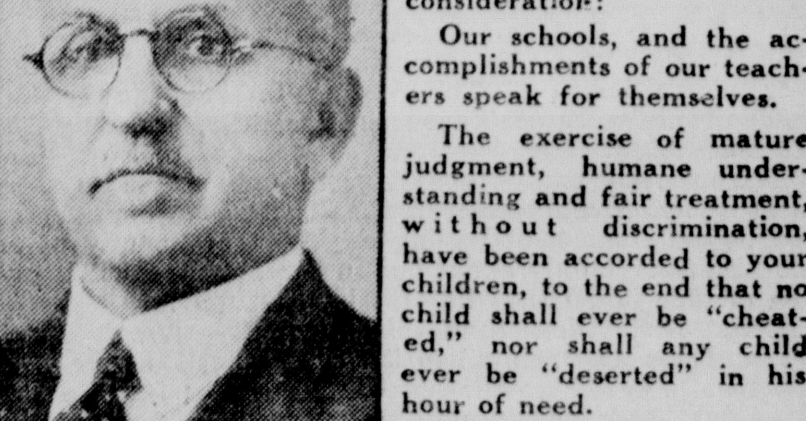

We have encouraged an wholesome respect for the dignity of honest toil, and have defended your children in their struggles for worth-iness of reputation. Good sportsmanship and good citi-zenship prevail in our schools, and paralyzing fear has neared the vanishing point.

Experience showed the need of, and provided an adaptable course of study under which your children can and do succeed even in times of unrest. Your schools are being held together.

Your endorsement of the above on November 6th insures its continuance.

Respectfully,

L. W. MILLER.

THIS BUREAUCRACY IS ONE WORTH WHILE

This word "bureaucracy" is a very horrid word, indeed, and we do well to fear it. But the particular bureaucracy represented by the Tennessee Valley Authority seems to be an outfit that moves fast and keeps its eyes on the ball every minute.

Within recent weeks there was completed a deal by which the city of Knoxville, Tenn., with its environs, receives electric current from the TVA. Terms of this deal are well worth examining.

Knoxville originally planned to build its own distribution system to handle the current, and a PWA loan was lined up for the purpose. Had this been done, the Tennessee Public Service Company, which was supplying Knoxville with electric power, would have faced ruin. So it was arranged that Knoxville should buy out this company's distribution system, instead.

Knoxville, of course, had to go into debt to make this purchase, and a 10 per cent surcharge had to be placed on the new electricity rates to retire the debt. Even including that surcharge, however, Knoxville consumers will now get their current at rate reductions which—in the case of people who use as much as 240 kilowatt hours a month—will run as high as 34 per cent.

In ten years the citizens of Knoxville will own the distribution system, lock, stock, and barrel, free of debt; meanwhile, they will have been paying less for their electricity than the cheapest rates privately owned utilities ever offered.

It has been clear gain, obviously, for the people of Knoxville. How about the people who held securities in the Tennessee Public Service Company?

The bond-holders get back the price at which the bonds were issued, 96 1/2. Preferred stockholders retain $3,300,000 in cash and liquid assets; furthermore, the company still owns the Knoxville street railway, which is carried on the books at a value of slightly more than $4,000,000.

Four years ago the company issued common stock on a "write-up" of $4,500,000. This stock represented no investment—although dividends of $846,000 were paid on it during the depression—and so it did not share in the pay-off.

This TVA bureaucracy, then, seems to have shaken something very much like a Christmas tree for the people of Knoxville—while, at the same time, doing full justice to the utility security-holders.

Bureaucracy is a horrid word. But it depends on which bureaucracy you mean.

A TIP ON REVOLUTIONS

A number of well-meaning Americans have grown fond of talking about revolution. People who haven't the slightest desire to mount any barricades or face any firing squads will say, glibly, "We need a revolution in this country"—as if a revolution were a pleasant little step in social evolution which could be shut off painlessly before it really hurt anybody.

Such people might profitably listen to Emma Goldman.

This revolutionary lady describes, in a recent issue of "The Nation," the sad plight of the old-time Russian revolutionaries. She tells how they suffered and fought and endured dire punishment to bring about the overthrow of the czar's government, and how they hailed the 1917 overturn as a new dawn.

Now they dare not enter Russia. The revolution ran right out from under them. They have found that Russia simply swapped one tyranny for another.

Once a revolution starts, it is very apt to get out of control and to head in a direction which those who worked for it never remotely desired. The wishful talkers in this country might meditate briefly on that fact.

MURDER 'SAFE' IN U. S.

Census Bureau figures show that 12,123 murders were committed in the United States in 1933. Fewer than 4000 people were sentenced as homicides, and only 153 were executed.

You need study those figures only for a moment to see what a comparatively small risk a killer actually runs. His chance of paying any kind of penalty at all for his crime is only about one in three; and there is just one chance in 80 that he will be executed!

More startling than this, however—though doubtless in some way related to it—is the fact that the 1933 record is a new high for the United States; furthermore, the total has risen by more than 4000 in the last ten years, fewer than 8000 homicides having been recorded in 1923.

As a disclosure of the growth of utter lawlessness in this land, these figures point their own moral.

The poorhouse is on of the greatest blots on the history of this country. It is utterly wrong that such an institution should exist.—U. S. Senator Royal S. Copeland, New York.

I am willing to admit that some day Communism may supplant capitalism, but this is perhaps 100 or 1000 years hence.—Roger Babson, economist.

(READ THE STORY, THEN COLOR THE PICTURE)

To Happy Helper, Scouty said, "What ever your plan is—go right ahead. The giant wants to make us slaves, and we don't care for that."

"We merely came here for a night and thought that all would be all right. Our plan to join around a bit has fallen flat."

"Just wait," replied the new-found friend. "On me you always can depend. This giant is always making other people do his work."

"If he would simply do his own. I'd gladly let the man alone, but now I'm going to teach him that it doesn't pay to shirk."

Then Happy Helper waved his hands and cried, "The giant understands what I am going to do. He knows that I have mystic powers."

"Before you tots can stop to thing, you'll see the monstrous fellow shrink I'm going to make him little. He will stay that way for hours."

"Aw, gee, I don't believe you can!"

said Goldy. Then she quickly ran and hid behind a great big chair.

A frightened girl was she.

The others watched the giant who just didn't know what to do. All of a sudden he cried out, "Oh have mercy on me!"

"You are too late," snapped the mystic man. Then around the giant's form he ran. The giant started shrinking. Dotty cried, "Of all the sights!"

"He will shrink away, I sadly fear. Oh, please don't let him disappear. Just make him about half the size of all the 'Tinymites.'"

The mystic man's hands then were dropped, and right away the shrinking stopped. The giant, now a little lad, turned right around and ran.

"Oh, catch him! Catch him!" Goldy cried. "The chances are he'll run outside." Then Windy loudly shouted, "I will catch him, if I can."

(The little giant gets a surprise in the next story.)

Living Our Everyday Lives

MENTAL CONFLICT

By Joseph Fort Newton
"Somehow," a student writes, "I just can't seem to concentrate on my studies. In high school I made good grades, but now I am a freshman in college I cannot pump up pep in my work."

"To tell the honest truth," he admits, "I fritter away my time, gaze vacantly at my books, and, if I keep on at the rate I am going I will surely flunk out. Can you tell me what is the matter?"

Yes, because his letter gives the clue to the riddle. In high school his chief interest was in dramatics. He had good parts in a number of school plays and won much praise for his acting.

In his heart he wanted to be an actor, but his mother said No. She thought all actors are bad, or at least not nice. She was wrong, of course. The number of bad folks among actors is no greater, proportionately, than among any other profession or class of people.

No matter. As his mother insisted upon the point, and did not seem to think he could go about the world without a nurse, he gave it up. He entered a school of study horticulture, but did not make a go of it. Now he is in a seminary studying to be a preacher.

But he still haunts the theater, and slips away every chance he gets to see a show. No doubt he thinks he can exercise his gift for acting in the pulpit, and be as nice as his mother wants him to be.

As it is, he is being torn in two by a mental conflict. His suppressed desire to be an actor is sapping his energy, twisting his life all out of shape, and he is almost sure to fail in his studies.

That is, unless he resolves the conflict, shakes up his mind, and buckles down to his job. No one knows whether he would make a good actor or not. Anyway, he will make a poor preacher—his heart is not in it. Plainly, he must not let others live his life for him.

It may not take much of a man to make a preacher, but it takes all there is of him. My reader must face the issue, settle it, and have done with it, or he will be both unhappy and a failure.

Daily Health Talk

THE SKIN IN WINTER

The skin in winter is affected by two principal conditions, cold and changes in diet and living conditions.

The effects of cold are to drive the blood into the deeper portions of the body. It is in this way that body heat is conserved, for if the blood were to remain on the body surface, we should soon freeze.

The lessening of blood circulation in the skin, however, has its local physiologic effects. Thus, perspiration is diminished and the secretions of fatty substance by the sebaceous glands is reduced.

Certain specific disease conditions may develop in consequence. One of these is winter pruritus or winter itch. In this condition there is more or less severe itching of the skin with exaggerated goose flesh.

Winter dermatitis, or chapping, is another annoying condition of the skin which commonly develops in the cold winter months.

Chilblains is another condition confined to the cold months of the year, and is due to poor circulation induced in part by repeated ex-

Hobo King Joins Election Fight

The Hoboes of America are serving notice through Jeff Davis, above, long-time president of their union, that they're in the thick of the coming election fight. They want penny a mile rail fare, a federal recreation department to put jobless actors at work, and a coast to coast super-highway, Davis announces.

What the News Was Around Dixon in Years Gone By

50 YEARS AGO

Two brothers, Cole by name, from Rockford, passed down the river today, enroute for the Gulf of Mexico. They intend to make the entire trip in their boat which is very comfortably fitted.

The young ladies of the Presbyterian church are sponsoring an entertainment at the opera house for the benefit of the church, featuring tambourine drills, harvest drills, vocal, instrumental and orchestral music and other novelties, equally attractive.

25 YEARS AGO

F. A. Campbell, detective, whose services are said to have been retained by Civic League, starts suit in the Circuit Court to recover the sum of $1,552 claimed for fees in the investigation of liquor violations in Dixon.

William Langley, residing near Amboy, was critically injured while operating a stump pulling machine on the Dewey farm.

Albert Carr swore out a warrant in court of Justice Davies for the arrest of John Mealey whom he alleged stole a wagon jack and some other tools.

posure to cold.

The prevention of these conditions is much easier and simpler than their treatment. To begin with, the skin should be protected against excess cold. The clothing worn should be warm and comfortable. This calls, among other things, for warm stockings and socks, for effective as well as stylish gloves, etc.

Blood circulation in the skin should be promoted by such means as warm baths, followed by brisk rubdowns with a rough Turkish towel. Care should be taken to dry the skin thoroughly after every washing of the body, the feet, hands or face.

When the skin is dry and scaly, a rubdown with olive oil will help considerably. If the hands and face are subject to chapping, sweet oil or cold cream rubbed into the skin and left on overnight will serve as a protective.

Tomorrow—Winter Diet and The Skin.

The PEOPLE'S COLUMN

HAIL THE NEW DEALERS

Senator James A. Reed of Missouri said recently, "The sun of democracy still shines and will ere long dissipate the fog of false doctrines."

To indulge this optimism Senator Reed disregards the fact that the Democracy is already committed, practically with out qualification, to the doctrines he deplores. The titular head of the party is sponsoring and defending the New Dealers.

James Madison, President of the United States from 1808 to 1816 made the following statement:

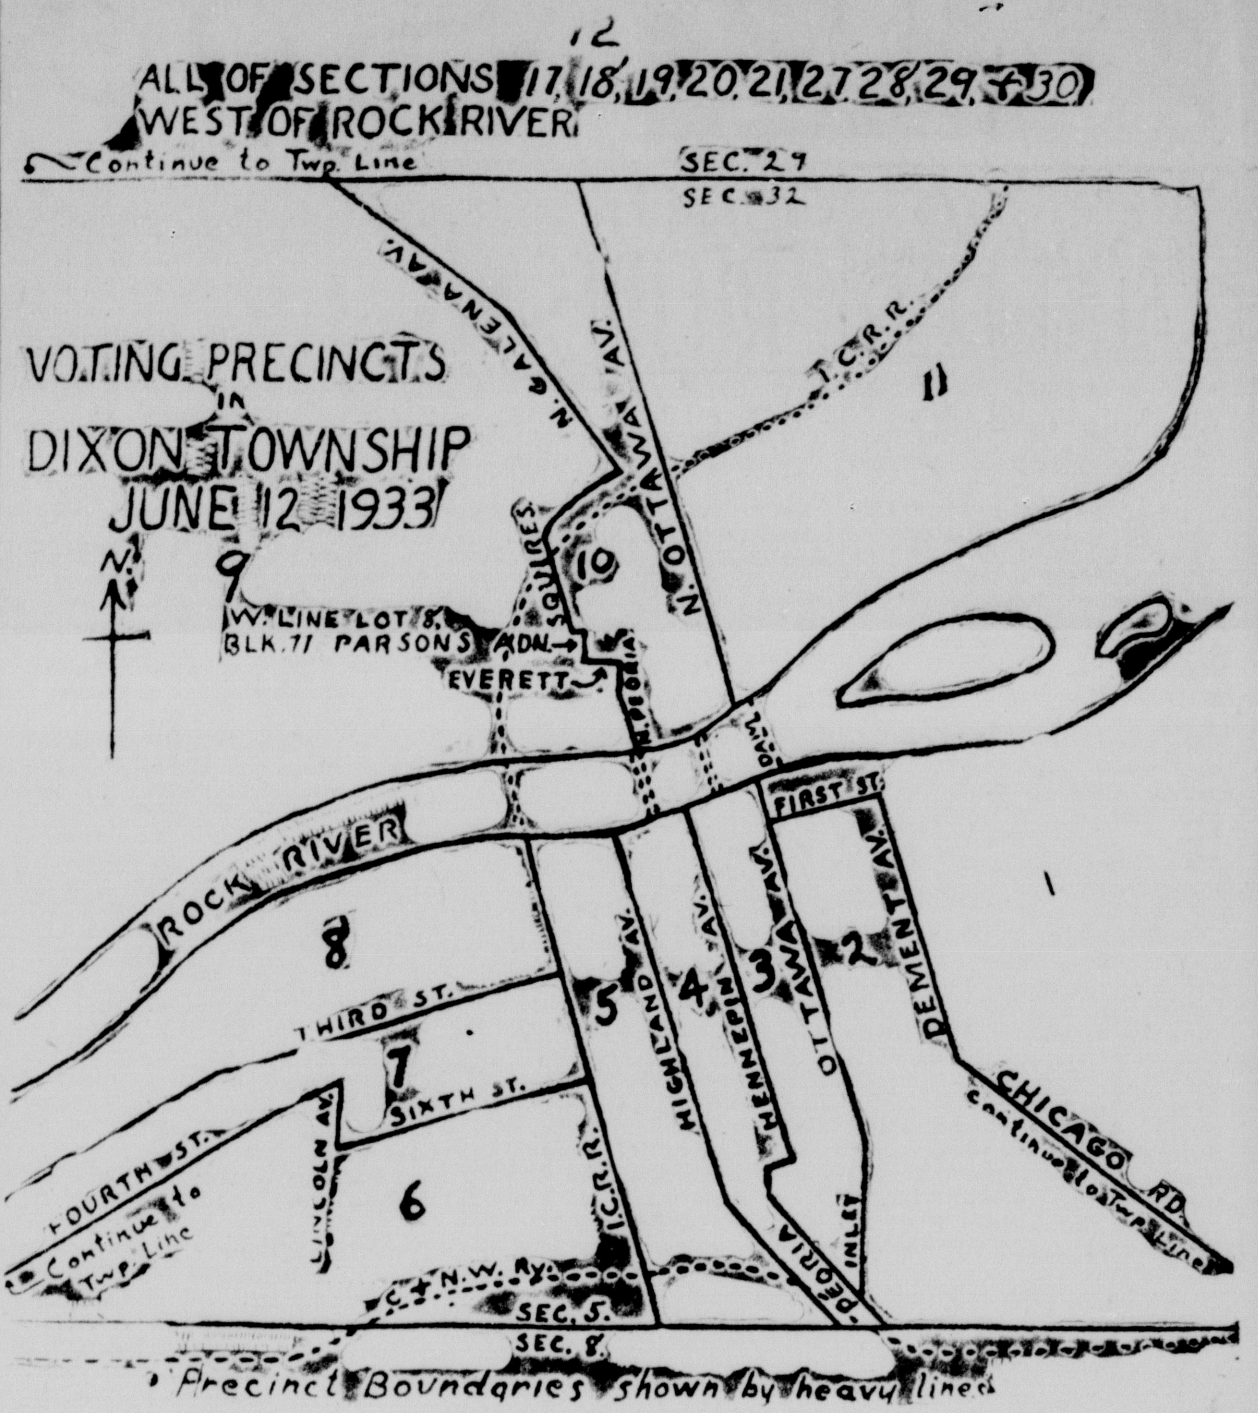

"We are free today substantially but the day will come when our republic will be an impossibility because the wealth will be concentrated in the hands of a few, a republic cannot stand on bayonets, and when that day comes, when the wealth of the nation will be in the hands of a few, then we must rely upon the wisdom of the best elements in the country to readjust the laws of the nation to the changed conditions."

It seems to me the day is at hand, the ledger of 118 years is full, the figures are accounted and oh what a price we must pay for the silence of the auditors through the 118 years.

More than 16,000,000 people on relief rolls, unemployed must be fed. These conditions must be met. Few people can own their own business, their own home, their own farm. Those who have possessions, how long can they hold it?

The New Dealers with President Franklin D. Roosevelt have come forth with a new day and the "sun of Democracy still shines" and Travel is one of the soundest investments anyone can make. It enriches minds and strengthens bodies. The recollection of it remains when other experiences are forgotten.

There are many thousands of attractive places to visit, for long or short stays, in the United States, Mexico, Canada and overseas.

Railroads lead to or toward them all. Railway service combines speed with safety and comfort with economy. Let the Illinois Central System help you plan a fall or winter vacation.

Constructive criticism and suggestions are invited.

SATURDAY GAMES MADE NO CHANGE IN GRID STATUS

Standout Teams Still Occupy "Penthouse" Positions Today

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Despite the week-end's spectacular developments, the football situation—sectionally—was virtually unchanged today.

Nothing that occurred in the sanguinary battling of last week when Army, Dartmouth and Chicago all were whipped for the first time, could shake such standouts as Minnesota, Alabama, Stanford, Princeton, Rice, Illinois, Santa Clara, Navy, Tulane, Syracuse, Louisiana State and Michigan State from their "penthouse" positions atop the football world.

Crucial engagements loom both for Stanford and Rice on Saturday. Paced by big Bobby Grayson, Stanford looked more and more like the class of the Pacific Coast Conference in walloping U. C. L. A., 27-0, last week but the Indians will have to vault Washington's undefeated and untied Huskies in their next engagement. The Owls of Rice, southwest leaders return to conference competition after a 27-0 "breather" with Texas A. & I. to face Arkansas, unbeaten but tied surprisingly by Texas A. & M.

Navy vs Notre Dame

Otherwise, the temporary leaders are menaced mostly by intersectional rivals this week. Navy, whose great back, Buzz Orries, led the Midshipmen to a decisive 26-0 rout of Washington & Lee, will travel to Cleveland to meet Notre Dame, thoroughly walloped by Pitt 19-0. Pitt, meanwhile, hopes her galaxy of fleet backs will be able to get loose for a touchdown or two against Nebraska, Big Six leaders, at Lincoln. At least one perfect record will go by the boards when Michigan State and Syracuse collide at Syracuse.

Two of the Southeastern Conference contenders, Tulane and Louisiana State, will travel into the north with the former getting the toughest assignment—a battle at New York with Colgate's Red Raiders, whose tricky attack spells trouble with a capital "T." Louisiana, meanwhile, will tackle George Washington in the national capital.

Big Ten Schedule

Minnesota, whose rugged line and star collection of backs, Lund, Alfonso, Kostka, et al., buried Michigan, 34-0, under a second half assault, should continue its march to at least a share in the Big Ten title against Indiana, Illinois, which capitalized on one early break to down Army in a driving rain, encounters Northwestern while Purdue, the only other undefeated conference contender after its sensational 26-20 conquest of Chicago, tackles Iowa next.

Princeton, getting a "breather" with Lehigh after its 19-0 victory over Harvard, and Alabama, South eastern powerhouse, meeting Clemson, should win easily. Santa Clara's Bronco, who tied with Stanford and 20-0 verdict over California projected them right into the national spotlight, have an open date.

Summarized, sectional prospects and programs for the week are about as follows:

EAST

The Colgate-Tulane, George Washington-Louisiana State, and Syracuse-Michigan State games share intersectional interest with Georgia's invasion of New Haven to battle Yale, surprise conqueror of Dartmouth. Duquesne will play Oklahoma A. & M. and Villanova faces South Carolina. The outstanding domestic game sends the Army's Cadets against Harvard. Pop Warner's Temple Owls, who downed Holy Cross, 14-0 last week, will try to keep an undefeated record intact against Carnegie Tech.

MIDDLE WEST

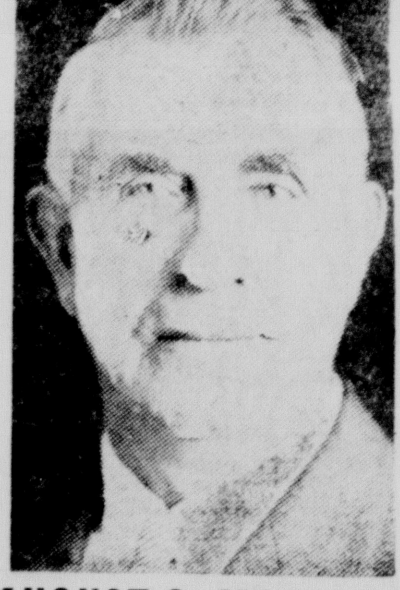

Big Ten Conference offers a full schedule for the first time this season. While Minnesota, Illinois and Purdue are seeking to keep their states clean, Ohio State will battle Chicago and Michigan will play Wisconsin. Nebraska and Pitt, Navy and Notre Dame, add the intersectional flavor. Kansas State, only apparent challenger for Nebraska in the Big Six, should keep going at Missouri's expense.

SOUTH

Competition eases off in both the Southeastern and Southern Conferences. With Louisiana State, Tulane, and Georgia in the north, INDEES WINNERS IN HARD MATCH AT CLINTON, IA.

Found Bulldogs Much Harder to Defeat on Home Field

The Dixon Independents squeezed out a hard fought, 6-0 victory in a marine gridiron encounter with the Clinton Potosi Bulldogs, played at Clinton Sunday afternoon in which mud was a mutual adversary.

A large crowd was on hand to witness a game which proved to be far superior to the initial contest between the two powerful elevens.

Last Sunday the Indies trounced Clinton 20 to 0, only to find yesterday a renovated outfit lined up against them. Brute strength and weight, due to the mud, kept the Indies on the defensive the majority of the first half. Clinton repeatedly pounded down the field on several occasions only to be held for downs when another yard would have resulted in a touchdown.

In the third quarter, Dixon's line tightened up with Finn doing some pile-driver tackling in backing up the forward wall. The lone touchdown of the day came as a result of a bad pass from center as Clinton was attempting to punt out on their own 15 yard line, giving the oval to Dixon on that marker. After two futile attempts to smash through the line, Daniels skirted left end for the touchdown. The attempted place-kick for the extra point was blocked.

From this point on, the Indies again were kept on the defensive. Clinton's powerful and heavy backfield consistently knifing through the Indies five and six yards at a crack. Three times Clinton had the pigskin at first down and goal to go but in these crisis Dixon held for downs and protected their six point lead to the final gun.

DO YOU REMEMBER

One Year Ago Today — Army and Princeton were undefeated and untied in eastern football.

Five Years Ago Today — West Virginia and Fordham played a 0-0 tie.

Ten Years Ago Today — Willie Hoppe, balking billiard champion, made a clean sweep of his 200-point three-cushion match with Jess Lean in Cincinnati.

If you have had enough—then vote the straight Republican ticket.

Billiardist Without Hands Here Tomorrow

George (HANDLESS) Sutton

One of the greatest attractions which is scheduled for this city in connection with the free billiard exhibition on the National "Better Billiards" program may be witnessed tomorrow, at the Hub, 91 Galena Ave. when George (Handless) Sutton appears here on the program.

Born in Toledo, Ohio, in 1874, Sutton found himself handicapped when he lost both hands in a planing mill. Realizing the necessity, in his early life, to make a livelihood, Sutton started out to educate himself.

During his early career, he studied astrology and medicine, both of which he gave up later, to devote his entire time to mastering the art of billiards, and today he is looked upon as one of the expert shot makers of the game.

For 45 years he toured the country, giving exhibitions, and has spent some time playing before the crowned heads of Europe. He has never actively competed in any world events, but in an exhibition game a few years ago in New York City, he scored a run of 799 at 18.2 ballline. Previous to that, he had registered a score of 3009 at straight rail billiards.

He has met and defeated many of the prominent billiard players of the world, among these being, Willie Hoppe; Geo. B. Sutton; Poggenberg, Garner, and Maurice Brown, all former national champions.

All billiard players know that a supple wrist movement is absolutely necessary for a delicate stroke. Sutton explodes this theory, however, in his exhibitions, and despite his handicap, he has mastered the intricacies of the game. He executes, with the greatest of ease, the most difficult shots which require delicacy and precision. He is a marvel at draw shots.

DREAM OF TURF FOLLOWERS MAY BECOME A FACT

Equipose, Cavalcade, Twenty Grand and Others in Race

New York, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Equipose, Twenty Grand, Cavalcade, Discovery, Head Play; just imagine a horse race with these five competing. It is likely to materialize, too. All five are in training for the $100,000 Santa Anita Handicap in sunny California February 23.

This race, the richest offered on the American turf in almost three years, is rapidly shaping up as an event to decide the championship of champions. It will be the turf follower's dream—a contest matching racing idols of bygone days with those of the present.

Equipose, still campaigning as a six-year-old in an attempt to surpass Sun Beau's world money-winning record of $376,774, was the two-year-old money-winning chamion of 1930, holds the world record for a mile (1:34 2-5) and despite frequent lameness, has amassed stake winnings of $334,450.

Twenty Grand Back

Twenty Grand, the turf's supreme idol after he broke the Kentucky Derby record in 1931 in 2:01 4-5, the fastest time for a mile and a quarter in ten years, has been in retirement for two years, but has returned to training. He holds the world two-year-old record for a mile, 1:36.

Cavalcade, undisputed money-winning champion of the current season, defeated only once this year by a nose by his stablemate, High Quest, in the Preakness, has won $111,235 this season. He is yet to be beaten at a mile and a quarter. Discovery winner of distance races only when Cavalcade is not competing, holds the world record for a mile and three-sixteenths, 1:55.

Head Play, the "goat" of the 1933 Kentucky Derby in which he was nosed out by Broker's Tip after the most vicious derby stretch duel of the present century, and winner of the Preakness the following week, also is in training for a comeback. Head Play is a formidable racer when at his best, and many experts still believe he was the best horse in the 1933 derby but was the victim of a faulty ride.

If you have had enough—then vote the straight Republican ticket.

TRUMPHS FOR DEMOCRATS IN POLL FORESEEN

that the starving and destitute must be fed regardless of political campaigns.

As a final touch to the campaign, Chairman James A. Farley of the Democratic National Committee, and Chairman Henry F. Fletcher of the Republican National Committee, will go on the air at 9 P. M. (CST) and Farley at 9:15.

Both have made their predictions. Farley forecast substantial Democratic gains in the Senate. While indicating there may be some losses in the House, he said increases there were possible. He said the administration would control both branches by two-thirds majorities.

Fletcher asserted the G. O. P. would retain its Senate strength and acquire between 60 and 70 House seats. Should his forecast materialize, the Democrats still would continue in power in the House.

Present Membership
In the present House there are 309 Democrats, 114 Republicans, 5 Farmer-Laborites and seven vacancies; in the Senate, 60 Democrats, 35 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite.

Democrats hold 38 governorships, 9 and Farmer-Laborites, 24 Democrats, 8 Republicans, and the lone Farmer-Laborite, Governor Olson of Minnesota, are at stake tomorrow.

Because of lack of substantial opposition in southern states, Democrats already are assured of a majority of the Senate—49—while more than 60 Democratic House candidates are unopposed. Only five Republicans are without opposition for the House.

29 Seek Re-election
Twenty-nine incumbent Senators, 13 Democrats, 15 Republicans, and one Farmer-Laborite—Shipstead of Minnesota—are seeking reelection. Five Senators, four Democrats and one Republican were defeated in primaries or retired.

Theodore G. Bilbo of Mississippi, fiery former governor who grew discontented with a newspaper clipping job the AAA gave him and plunged back into state politics, is the only unopposed Democratic senatorial candidate. But the election of Senators Trammell in Florida, Connally in Texas and Byrd in Virginia are generally conceded.

Senator Hiram W. Johnson, colorful Republican independent in California, received both the G. O. P. and Democratic nominations, having had administration backing.

After "Old Guard"
In seeking to entrench the Democratic party in Republican strongholds, administration leaders have concentrated on Senate seats held by old guards in New Jersey, Vermont, Connecticut, Rhode Island, Pennsylvania, Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, Missouri, Maryland and Michigan.

They also have been fighting for election of two Democrats in New Mexico, where Senator Bronson Cutting, Republican independent who campaigned for Roosevelt in 1932, is standing again, and in Minnesota where Henrik Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, is opposed by a Roosevelt adherent, Representative Elmer Hoidal, Shipstead campaigned for Roosevelt in 1932.

On the other hand, an invitation Roosevelt extended to Senator Robert M. La Follette, Jr., Republican liberal who turned progressive, to lunch at the White House on Thursday, was regarded by his supporters as a pat on the back.

F. D. R. Wants Bob
It is known that the President would like to see La Follette returned to the Senate. La Follette is running against John M. Callahan, an "Al Smith" Democrat, and John B. Chapple, Republican.

To prepare for the 1936 elections, the Democrats have striven to eliminate Senator David A. Reed, old guard Pennsylvania Republican, who has been mentioned as presidential timber. Against him they have placed a friend of the President, Joseph W. Guffey. They also pitted Frank A. Picard, Democrat, against Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg (R. Mich.), another G. O. P. presidential prospect of 1936.

They have centered on the Senate seat held by Warren R. Austin, in "rock-ribbed Republican" Vermont, and sent Democratic heavy artillery to aid Fred G. Martin, Democratic Internal Revenue Collector.

Close Vote In Ohio
Chairman Farley has predicted the defeat in Ohio of Senator Simon D. Pess by former governor or Vice Donahue, Democrat. Pess, a former chairman of the Republican National Committee, is assistant party leader in the senate and a veteran of 39 years in congress. His supporters say he will win.

Assertions have also been made by the Democratic chairman that the young Rush D. Holt, 29-year-old Democratic senatorial nominee in West Virginia, will defeat Senator Hatfield; that Judge Harry S. Truman, Democrat, will defeat Senator Roscoe Patterson, Republican, in Missouri; and that Sherman Minton of Indiana, will eliminate the administration critic, Senator Arthur Robinson, Republican.

In addition, the Democratic high command asserts that Representative Francis R. Maloney stands a good chance to defeat Senator Frederic C. Walcott, Connecticut Republican; that Peter G. Gerry, Democrat, will down Senator Felix Hebert, Rhode Island Republican.

Some Republican Claims
Republicans, however, say Wyoming voters will elect Representative Vincent Carter, their candidate, over Joseph C. O'Mahoney.

HEAVY VOTE IN STATE SEEN BY PARTY LEADERS

Bitter Contests in Many Districts and Counties of the State

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—Illinois voters, some 2,400,000 strong, will go to the polls tomorrow to vote on the "New Deal" state, county, and local issues in one of the most heated off-year elections in the past quarter century.

In the calm preceding the balloting political analysts estimated that 1,200,000 votes would be cast in Cook county and a like number downstate, regarded as heavy for an off-year election.

The poll books list the names of 1,714,639 voters in Cook county and political analysts said only 70 per cent of the registered electors would go to the polls to roll up the 1,200,000 count, a percentage they do not regard as high. Because of the lack of a general registration law downstate, accurate estimates were more difficult.

The bitter struggle over congressional-at-large, in which the Republican campaign is being led by C. Wayland Brooks, and the Democratic by Michael L. Igoe, has attracted major attention. The other two candidates are Milton E. Jones, Republican, and Martin A. Brennan, Democrat. Two of the quartet will be elected.

Interest in Cook Co.
Three races of national interest center in Chicago where running re-election are Congressman Fred A. Bitten, one of the four Republican deans of the house with 22 years of service; Congressman Oscar De Priest, Republican, sole Negro member of congress; and Congressman Adolph J. Sabath, Democrat, oldest member in the house in point of service and potential candidate for Speaker to succeed the late Henry T. Rainey.

Bitten is opposed by James Andrews, Democrat; De Priest by Arthur H. Mitchell, Democrat; and Sabath by John A. Stanek, Republican.

Heated contests were indicated in at least six downstate districts: the 11th, 12th, 16th, 19th, 22nd and 24th.

In Elgin District
In the 11th, a rock-ribbed Republican district, Chauncey W. Reed, state's attorney of Du Page county, has for a Democratic opponent James A. Howell of Elgin, who was defeated two years ago by Congressman Frank R. Reid by a 1,333 plurality.

In the 12th, Republican Congressman John T. Buckbee of Rockford is opposed by C. H. Smith of LaSalle.

In the 16th, Congressman Donald C. Dobbins, Champaign Democrat, and Charles H. Fletcher, Mattoon Republican, are opponents.

In the 22nd, Judge Jesse R. Brown, Alton Republican, who gained statewide attention when he issued the injunction against the sales tax, faces Congressman Edwin M. Schaefer, Belleville Democrat.

In the 24th, Judge James V. Heidinger, Fairfield Republican, is opposed by Claude V. Parsons, a Golconda Democrat.

Questions of Policy
Voters will also decide whether they want a constitutional convention to revamp the state constitution—"to meet the new conditions"—and they will pass on the $30,000,000 relief bond issue.

Voters will also select a treasurer and superintendent of public instruction, fill 27 places in the state senate and all of the lower house of the general assembly, all state offices, and congressional seats at Washington.

William J. Stratton, Ingleside (R) and John Stearns, McLeansboro (D) are the candidates for state treasurer; and Francis G. Blair, Charleston (R) and John A. Wiland, Calumet City (D) the nominees for Superintendent of Public Instruction.

State chairmen of both parties, Bruce A. Campbell (D) and Justus L. Johnson (R) reiterated their predictions for gains for their respective parties at the polls Tuesday.

CHICAGO BEARS, DETROIT LIONS MAINTAIN PACE

Two Teams May Find Title Depending on Turkey Day Game

Chicago, Nov. 5.—(AP)—With the Chicago Bears and Detroit Lions rolling over all opposition, there appears little prospect for settlement of their National Professional Football League leadership battles until they run into each other Thanksgiving Day.

Each racked up its eighth consecutive victory yesterday, the Bears defeating the New York Giants, 27 to 7, and the Lions trouncing Pittsburgh, 40 to 7. The monotony of their charge through the rest of the league, however, was joined slightly when the Lions were scored on for the first time of the season.

The Green Bay Packers saved the eastern division lead for the Giants by downing the second place Boston Red Skins, 10 to 0. Two games, Chicago Cardinals at Brooklyn and Cincinnati at Philadelphia, were postponed because of rain.

The postponed games will be played Tuesday. The Bears play at Boston Sunday, while the Lions meet the Cardinals at Chicago. The Packers meet New York at New York, Pittsburgh goes to Cincinnati and Brooklyn plays Philadelphia in the other Sunday attractions.

The Clew of the Forgotten Murder

By CARLETON KENDRAKE
©1934 NEA Service, Inc.

BEGIN HERE TODAY
When CHARLES MORDEN, reporter for The Blade, is found dead, BLEEKER, publisher, employs NINEY GRIFF, famous criminologist, to solve the murder. MORDEN had been investigating the affairs of FRANK B. CATHAY, wealthy and prominent, following the arrest of an impostor claiming to be Cathay and accompanied by a girl called MARY BRIGGS.

The day following MORDEN's death Cathay dies of poisoning. Griff learns that MORDEN visited the apartment of ALICE LORTON who has reported to police the disappearance of her roommate, ESTHER ORDWAY. He has a photograph of LAMPSON, the gangster, believed to have shot MORDEN. Griff says LAMPSON is not the man.

Leaving Decker, Griff and LORTON go to the home of ROONE, friend of Alice Lorton. Before starting Griff gives Bleeker a riddle.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY CHAPTER XXVIII
BLEEKER eyed the revolver distastefully. "What's the idea?" he demanded.

"Put it in your pocket," Griff repeated.

"But why?"

"We're going to call on Mr. Kenneth Boone. The party may get rough."

"Look here," Bleeker protested, "aren't you going farther in this thing without notifying the police?"

"We're going a lot farther," Griff told him. "This is one of the cases that the police would fall down on. They've got a lot of newspaper publicity and get the thing all tangled up. They'd wind up by convicting an innocent person and letting the guilty escape."

"What case are you talking about?" Decker asked. "This murder case?"

"About the murder of the newspaper reporter," Griff said, "and while we're about it, the death of a man named Frank B. Cathay."

"Don't you think Cathay committed suicide?" asked Bleeker.

Griff opened a box of cartridges, slipped some extra ones into his pocket and said, "I'll admit this. He took the poison voluntarily."

"You're going to leave me here?" Decker asked.

"Down in the vestibule," Griff told him. "You're going to wait until the newspaper reporters come and then you're going to tell your story and tell the whole story just as it actually happened."

Decker's face showed relief as he remarked, "Gosh, what a load this is off my mind! Why didn't you show me LAMPSON's picture sooner, Griff?"

"Because I thought it was LAMPSON until about an hour ago. I thought he must have done the killing."

"How did you find out it wasn't LAMPSON?"

"I JUST happened to think things over and decided I'd better check up by showing you LAMPSON's picture. Remember now, Decker, when the newspaper reporters interview you, you aren't telling them where you were hiding during the time the police were looking for you. You're not going to tell anyone that. And, incidentally, the police are going to think that LAMPSON's men bribed you."

"I don't give a damn what the police think. I'm telling the truth," Decker retorted.

"Okay," Griff said. "Let's go, Bleeker."

Griff located two men from the detective agency seated in automobiles in front of the Trent Apartments.

"Are they in?" he asked, when he had identified himself.

"Both of them," he said. "That's the apartment up there. You can see the window, with the curtains pulled down."

"We're going up," Griff told him. "If you hear a racket, come on up."

Griff led the way to the apartment, pushed his finger on the buzzer. There was no answer. He pounded with his knuckles on the door. Still no answer.

"Open up," Griff shouted. "We know you're in there, Boone. Open that door!"

This time there sounded the rustle of surreptitious motion from behind the door.

Griff stepped to one side. Bleeker pulled his gun from his pocket, stared grimly at the door. Griff motioned the publisher to keep the gun out of sight. There was the sound of a rattling chain, the click of a catch. The door opened and a man of about 30 stood staring at them in hostile appraisal.

Griff swept his eyes over the dark skin of the face, the snapping black eyes, the coarse black hair which came low on the forehead, the bushy black eyebrows.

"Boone?" he asked.

"Yes," said the man in surly tones. "Who are you?"

"Just two men who want to talk with you," Griff told him, and started to push his way through the door.

"Wait a minute," Boone said. "I don't want to talk with you."

"Oh, yes you do," Griff told him. "It might be much better for you to talk here than to talk at headquarters."

"Are you dicks?" asked the man. "Do you want us to tell the hallway about it?" Griff inquired.

Boone hesitated, seemed to be weighing the chances for a sudden dash for liberty. Finally he stood to one side.

"All right," he said, "come in." The two men entered the apartment. It was a single apartment, consisting of a combined sitting room and bedroom, a small kitchen, a bathroom, and a closet, with a wall bed behind mirrored doors. The curtains were down and the lights were on.

"You," said Griff, dropping into a chair, "knew a woman named Esther Ordway."

Boone knitted his brows thoughtfully.

"No," he said slowly, "I didn't."

ILLINOIS TEAM COMPLETES ITS REVENGE DRIVE

Must Now Prevent It Going Into Reserve in Final Game

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 5.—(AP)—Illinois' season of revenge is complete, and as the Illinois rugged road toward the undefeated season goal their biggest task is to prevent their opponents from reversing the revenge angle.

Last year Michigan defeated Illinois in a 7 to 6 heartbreaker but this season the tables were turned and the Illinois eked out a 7 to 6 triumph. Likewise did Bob Zuppkas charges humiliate Ohio State, 14 to 13, to make amends for the one point 7 to 6 victory which the Buckeyes scored last year. Then came the crowning achievement of last Saturday when the Illinois pushed over an early touchdown and protected the precarious margin to record a 7 to 0 victory over Army and bring to mind the 6 to 0 conquest which the Cadets scored over Illinois in 1933. As the light but brilliant Illinois squad charges along its undefeated pathway, three Big Ten hurdlers loom, any of which might prove a stumbling block. Northwestern, Wisconsin and Chicago appear on the Illinois schedule on successive Saturdays and all of the games will be played on foreign ground. Each of the three teams fell victim to Illinois last season.

Universal Compliments
Universal compliments were in order after the tussle Saturday as the Cadets declared that the game was one of the cleanest they had played in this season and Illinois players were unanimous in proclaiming Jack Buckler the most elusive opponent of the year. No casualties were reported after the 60 minute struggle in a morass of mud and water and all hands will be able to take up hard work immediately in preparation for the Northwestern battle. Chuck Gailbreath, who was carried from the field Saturday, was not seriously injured and will be ready to resume his right tackle position.

A checkup of attendance figures showed that more than 47,000 persons attended the Army-Illinois contest and of that number more than 3,000 persons purchased tickets immediately before the game while the rain was at its worst. Announcement was made today that the 175 piece Illinois band will appear at the Northwestern game next Saturday.

Leo Allen is a candidate for Congress, a man who has the respect of those who know him. He is our present congressman. Vote for him.

If you have had enough—then vote the straight Republican ticket.

JAPAN'S RIGHT TO MANDATE OF ISLANDS IS UP

Refusal to Let U. S. Warship Visit an Island Rumored

Geneva, Switzerland, Nov. 5.—(AP)—The entire question of Japan's right to hold islands under mandate in the Pacific ocean, now that she has resigned from the League of Nations, was thrown into discussion today as the league mandate commission heard a report that United States warships had been refused the right to visit former German islands now under Japanese mandate.

According to league officials, reports exist that Japan, in violation of mandate regulations, is secretly constructing naval bases on these islands. This concrete question, however, did not arise at today's meeting.

What did happen was that a member of the commission told Nobuhumi Ito, the Japanese minister to Poland, that he had read in a Stockholm newspaper that an American battleship, transporting an American scientific group which intended to study an eclipse of the sun, had been denied admission to islands under Japanese mandate.

Ito answered that he had no knowledge of the report and added that the Japanese government itself had organized a scientific expedition to visit the islands and had invited scientists of other countries. Ito said he saw no reason why the United States or any other country should wish to send scientists on a battleship when Japan herself had organized a general scientific expedition.

Japan has the League of Nations' mandate for the Marshall, Caroline, Ladron, and Pelew Islands, former German possessions in the Pacific.

AMUSEMENTS

GERTRUDE STEIN OPERA COMING TO CHICAGO

Preceded by an unbelievable chorus of unanimous praise from Eastern critics, dramatic and musical, "Four Saints in Three Acts" the Gertrude Stein-Virgil Thomson All-American opera, musical satire, baroque fantasy, or what have you, will be presented at the Auditorium theatre in Chicago for five performances beginning the evening of Wednesday, November seventh, and continuing through Saturday the tenth.

In spite of critical praise, "Four Saints in Three Acts" has proved the most controversial production in the theatre of recent years. Adjectives of praise and vituperation have intermingled as auditors and spectators have been left bewildered and gasping at this amazing something new in the annals of the stage. That this should be true is understandable to those who have followed the strange course of Gertrude Stein's prosody from her first famous "Tender Buttons" to the fantastic conception of the "Four Saints."

The heady nonsense of her meaningless but soundful words has found an extraordinary soul mate in the melodic fantasy that Virgil Thomson has fabricated for the musical score. A string of meaningless words become meaningful, and to action apparently without rhyme or reason, both are supplied by Mr. Thomson's lovely music, described as "being as melodious as 'Pinafore' and as rhythmically flexible as a Gregorian chant."

The libretto by Miss Stein treats in general of the lives of two of her favorite saints, Saint Theresa of Avila, and Saint Ignatius Loyola, a wealthy young lady of her time and a soldier respectively. Various scenes are depicted showing their rise to the saintly estate. As a matter of fact, "Four Saints in Three Acts" really contains some thirty odd saints and is actually a Prologue and Four Acts.

An example of the entire lack of lucidity of Miss Stein's text, is the famous "Lucy Lily" sung off-stage by "The Heavenly Chorus":

"Let Lucy Lily Lucy let Lucy Lily Lily Lily Lily let Lucy Lily Lucy Lily Let Lucy Lily."

Here is rare nonsense, but sung as it is and when it is, and placed in the rich musical atmosphere created for it by the composer, it is one of the high spots of the opera. Certainly no opera goer accustomed to the inane repetitions of "HITrovatore" should object to "Lucy Lily."

Though the opera was written for white artists, the use of an entire Negro cast was decided upon by Mr. Thomson for reasons which merit quoting. He believes that they sing English in superior style, sing with greater ease, and fall into the "devotional and fanciful moods demanded by the opera as no white cast could. The beauty of the Negro choral work and their lack of concern about the nonsense they are singing precludes the possibility of a tongue-in-cheek performance. The Negro artists he engaged, Thomson finds, are satisfied with the pure beauty of the sound of the words and music, and are not in the least concerned with their meaning. This it is that has contributed the sense of spiritual ecstasy that has so impressed all who have seen "Four Saints."

The action of the opera is unusually important as all the meaning of the play must be in seeing and hearing. The choreography plays therefore a part equal in importance to that of the words and music. Frederick Ashton, a young Londoner known as the dance director for Cochrane for the London production of the "Cat and the Fiddle" and for several of the "Charlot Revues" has reaped new laurels with his treatment of "Four Saints."

Florine Stettheimer has wrought costumes and scenery of extreme fantasy with an edge of naivete and simplicity that gives them the utmost charm. Her use of a cellaphane cyclorama is revolutionary and fits the baroque mood of the opera perfectly.

One is advised to park all preconceived notions of the theatre at the door, and bring to "Four Saints" all the eyes and ears necessary to the full enjoyment of this remarkable production.

"Four Saints" is the first event in the series of attractions at the Auditorium Theatre this season which will include Chaliapin and the Russian Opera Company in "Boris Godunoff", Arthur Schnabel, pianist; Nino Martini, famous radio tenor; La Argentina, and the Ballet Russe of Monte Carlo. Information concerning tickets may be obtained by writing Grace Denton, 1304 Auditorium Building.
